ESSENCE OF THE LORD

When Christ came to earth, the Scribes and Pharisees were the religious leaders of the Jews. The Scribes, so called because of their knowledge of the Mosaic Law and the traditions added on to it, were the elite among the Pharisees who prided themselves on their strict, rigorous observance of the Law and the human traditions. The Pharisees had no time or no understanding for their fellow-Jews who often violated the scribal traditions—and even the Law of Moses itself sometimes. For this reason, they kept themselves apart from the ordinary people and developed a proud superiority complex. They performed many acts of virtue but their pride and sense of self-sufficiency vitiated their good deeds (see the description of the Pharisee and the tax-gatherer in the temple, in Lk. 18: 10-14). The opposition of the Pharisees and Scribes to Jesus began very early in his public life. It grew in strength daily until, with the help of the Sadducees, their arch-opponents, they finally nailed him to the cross.

The main reason why they opposed him so bitterly was his mercy, kindness and understanding for sinners. He ate with tax-gatherers and made one of them, Levi, an Apostle. He forgave the adulteress and many, many others. While he certainly did not approve of sin, he never uttered a hard word against any sinner. He had come, as he said, to call sinners to himself and to repentance. This he did all through his public life. He objected to the Pharisees, not because of their strict observance of the Mosaic Law nor of their insistence on human traditions—although they sometimes carried this to an intolerable extreme. He objected because they despised the lowly people, the uneducated in the law and traditions—those, in other words, who did not belong to their own exclusive class. To the Pharisees all these were "sinners," while they themselves had the worst sin of all—the original sin of mankind, the sin of pride.

In today's encounter with the Pharisees, Jesus tells them that they are hypocrites: "they honor God with their lips but their heart is far from God"; they obey the Law and the traditions, not to please God, but to be seen and admired by men; their motive, self-glorification, vitiates every otherwise good act they perform. Christ then addresses the people—the crowds who most likely had overheard his dialog with the Pharisees—and he tells them that it is not legal or cultic uncleanness that matters, but cleanliness of the heart before God. Eating with unwashed hands, or using unwashed vessels for drinking, does not defile a man, this does not make him less worthy before God. It is not from things outside him that a man incurs defilement but from his own innermost self. Every serious sin against God and neighbor has its beginning within a man, in his intellect and will; the evil design is the forerunner and instigator of the evil deed.

The Pharisees should have known all this. They did know it. They knew very well that before a man breaks any of the commandments of God he must first plan and decide to break it; it was not their theology that was defective but their practice. They despised their neighbors and called fellowman "sinners," because through ignorance they violated many of the man-made precepts the Pharisees had added to the Law of Moses. There were also fellow-Jews of theirs who violated the law itself, but it was not their right to judge or condemn much less excommunicate them, as they so often did in practice.

Christ condemned the Pharisees by word and deed. He was merciful, kind and understanding to all sinners. He forgave sin and promised forgiveness to all who would repent of their past misdeeds. Not only that: for he left to his followers for all time his sacrament of mercy and forgiveness, by means of which they could have their sins forgiven by his minister, acting in his name. Should we ever forget all he has done for us and disobey in a serious way any of his commandments, let us remember that we are not excluded from his company as the sinners were excluded by the Pharisees: we have banged the door on ourselves, but he has given us the key with which to reopen it. Let us never be so foolish as to fail to use that key.

By Father Kevin who was professor of Sacred Scripture at Christ the King Seminary and St. Bonaventure University in N.Y. and later in the National Seminary, Pretoria, South Africa and as a pastoral priest in Ireland.

SCHOOL NEWS

St. Benedict the Moor Catholic School has reopened for the 2018/2019 school year and we are into the second week of the school. Prior to the formal opening on August 16, 2018 the teachers and staff met for staff professional Development and a spiritual retreat beginning from August 1 through to 15, 2018.

The Open House on August 13 was well attended by over a 100 parents and students.

The school opened with Interim Principal in the person of Debra Johnson. Debra Johnson has been a principal before in the old Resurrection and Mary Queen of Peace school days. She left to be the principal for Steam Academy of Dayton, where she retired. We are blessed to have her. She is already familiar with the building and most of the parents in the building, either she taught them or knows them from the former school. We welcome Mrs. Johnson and wish her well.

Our enrollment exceeded our projected 120 students to 129 from K to 6th grade. Pre-K is 16 just as we anticipated. We have a waiting list in some grades. We have two new seasoned teachers on the staff which makes it look great with such experience teachers.

Teachers and students are very much enthusiastic and are ready to learn.

Please find sometime and visit your school, St. Benedict the Moor Catholic School, 138 Gramont Ave Dayton Ohio 45417.

Have a wonderful Labor Day
